

Other Sources for Props and Ideas

(Note: Information here is from the past. Please let Jill, jillm@berkeley.edu, know if there is erroneous info or if you have anything good to add for future students. Thanks!)

- Hall of Health, Alta Bates Hospital, 2230 Shattuck Ave. (lower level), Berkeley, 549-1564
Open Tuesday – Saturday, 10 am – 4 pm
A hands-on health exhibit museum, co-sponsored by Alta Bates Medical Center and Children's Hospital of Oakland. Exhibits include brain/drugs/addiction, smoking, birth, nutrition, cells/cancer prevention, body systems, skeletal system, and health/environment.
- C&M Meat Wholesale Purveyors, 2843 San Pablo Ave. (between Ashby & Oregon), Berkeley, 848-3460.
Contact: DJ; call one week in advance. Obtain USDA Health Inspector's Form from IB 133 web site. State purpose for using organs (i.e., teaching) and present completed form to C&M Meat Wholesalers to pick up your order.
NOTE: This is the source for every local retailer.
Beef eyes, $35 for a pack of 10. Contact other groups teaching the eye so you can share the cost.
Lamb hearts, $3 each
Lamb plucks, $7.50 each (includes heart, lungs, trachea, liver & gallbladder)
- Ver Brugge Meat, Fish, & Poultry, 6321 College Ave., Oakland, 658-6854
Beef Hearts only, $2.99 per lb.
Please allow one week.
- In the past, groups have purchased animal organs at butcher shops. Try Ranch 99 Market. If your team finds a good source for educational materials or other teaching aids, let the GSI know and s/he will add it to the list!
- One Student Survey noted: Anatomy cadaver dissection atlas (Netter, etc.) worked well for the 6th grade teams. Student interest was high.
- You can find lots of information and plenty of downloads at the American Heart Association's web site. Search for "lesson plans" or "HeartPower." Other health related organizations may have activity ideas at their web sites. Search around and let us know if you find anything really fun.
- CREATIVITY IS THE BEST OTHER SOURCE!

REIMBURSEMENT: Use CASH to make your purchases! (Credit card/check purchases cannot be reimbursed.) Save your receipts and we will refund you for a maximum group total of $15. Submit your receipts to Jill Marchant (mailbox is in 3060 VLSB) by 5 pm, May 4th.
