Textbook: An Introduction to Behavioral Endocrinology, 4th Edition, by Randy J. Nelson, Sinauer, Sunderland, MA.

Readings: Additional readings from the primary literature will be distributed to be critically reviewed during Discussion Sections. These readings will complement material during course lectures.

Course Description: This course will provide a comprehensive overview of behavioral endocrinology beginning with hormone production and actions on target tissues and continuing with an exploration of a variety of behaviors and their hormonal regulation/consequences. We will use a comparative approach to examine the reciprocal interactions between the neuroendocrine system and behavior, considering the effects of hormones on development and adult behavior in addition to how behavior regulates endocrine physiology. While much of the course will focus on non-human vertebrate species, the relevance to humans will be explored where appropriate. Topics include: sexual differentiation and sex differences in behavior, reproductive, parental, and aggressive behaviors, and hormonal and behavioral homeostatic regulation.

Grades: Two mid-semester examinations (30% each), one final examination (35%), Discussion Presentations (5%). * There will be NO makeup exams, so please do not miss exams ****
